

August 20-22

This past weekend the fish were biting, but bumpy lake conditions hampered the effort some.Â Fish were found in relatively shallow water in the 80-130 range but the bite seemed to turn off quickly.Â the bite from 130 to 170 lasted a bit longer and the bite in 240-300 seemed to be steady if you could stay on the fish.Â With the cooler temps forcasted at night this week, it could be harbor patrol this weekend.Â The big kings are getting ready to make the run up river very shortly here.Â Some fish are already in the river.Â The extremely warm water has made catching them very tricky, if not impossibly, but the water is cooling.Â Great trips ahead.Â

Our bites came on a mixed bag of Northport Nailer spoons and Horse Flies and plugs.Â Â Plugs seemed to do best early morning and flies and spoons took over mid day.Â A good mixed bag of fish are being caught offshore with Coho, Kings, Steelhead and Lake trout.Â Â
